

Saturday 9th November, 2013 theatre, supper + AGM

The Browning Version and Harlequinade

2.30 p.m. St. Peter's Church, Kensington Park Road

(opposite Stanley Gardens) London W11 2PN

Nearest tube Notting Hill Gate & on 52 bus route

These two amateur productions by The Ladbroke Players are directed by two members of our Society. Andrew Kenyon, our Treasurer, is directing The Browning Version and Alison DuCane is directing Harlequinade. This is a long established amateur group with a good reputation. For TRS Society members and their guests tickets cost £9 per person.

ALSO Optional post-theatre supper at

Notting Hill Kitchen

5.30 p.m. 92 Kensington Park Road (next to St. Peter's Church)

The recently opened Notting Hill Kitchen is situated in three converted Edwardian town houses. It is a beautiful, modern restaurant specialising in Portuguese & Spanish food. (We shall dine in a private area of the restaurant so that Clive Montellier, our Secretary, can chair a brief AGM. For those unable to attend, a summary of the accounts appears in the Newsletter and a report on the AGM will be in the next edition.) The Society has negotiated a special two course menu at a cost of £25 per head, to include service charge. Members who wish to book supper should pay for this in advance, so that the TRS can pay the entire bill with one cheque. Members may pay individually for their drinks in the restaurant. The house wine costs £19 a bottle.
